FOREWORD

This book is a companion-volume to the earlier publication entitled Hymns from Guru Granth Sahib.

The seventy hymns selected have been thoughtfully arranged under different sections—on God, the Holy Name, False Religion, Transitory World, Universal Brotherhood, the Khalsa, Yoga, Supplication and about Himself. The compositions on God cover both His positive and negative aspects. Hypocrisy and ritual are exposed under the heading of False Religion. The hymns on the Transitory World and the Holy Name respectively show the contrast between the ephemeral and the permanent. The hymns on Universal Brotherhood emphasise the egalitarian aspects of the Guru's philosophy. The hymns on Yoga show how the Guru's Sahaj-Yoga differs from the traditional Yoga. The hymns on the Khalsa sum up the characteristics of the ideal man and the Guru's appreciation of His devotees. The last section containing extracts from Bachitra Natak and Zafar-Namah – both autobiographical hymns throw light on the Guru's mission and his willingness to pay any price for the vindication of Truth, Freedom and Justice.

The editor has covered all the aspects of the Tenth Guru's personality and teaching. Some of the hymns in this collection are quite popular and are sung in Sikh institutions and congregations.

These hymns throw light mainly on the two aspects of the Guru's character. He was not only a Prophet but also a saint-warrior. Though his heart was full of the milk of human kindness, he wielded the sword fearlessly to uproot the tyrant and the wicked. He firmly believed that there is a moral order in the universe, where Good must prevail over Evil in the end.

I feel confident that the book will be a source of great enlightenment and edification to the readers. It meets a long-felt need and will be welcomed by the English-knowing people.

PREFACE TO THE REVISED EDITION

HYMNS FROM THE DASAM GRANTH contains seventy hymns of the tenth Guru. Each hymn is reproduced in the original Punjabi text and underneath is the transliteration in Roman-English, for the benefit of those who cannot read Punjabi. On the opposite page is the English translation, line by line. In the foot-note, I have given annotations on difficult words and concepts.

The Dasam Granth edition in the Punjabi script available in the market, contains 1428 pages. The compositions are in Brij Bhasha, Hindi, Punjabi and Persian languages, and are printed in the following order.

Jaap, Akal Ustat, Bachitra Natak, Chandi Charitar I & II, Chandi Ki Var, Gian Prabodh, Chaubis Avtar, Shabad Hazare, Savaiye, Khalsa Mehma, Shastra Nam Mala, Triya Charitra, Zafar Namah and Hikayat.

The Dasam Granth was compiled by Bhai Mani Singh on the instructions of Guru Gobind Singh's widow – Mata Sundri in 1711. Scholars have not agreed that all the compositions of the Dasam Granth are from the pen of the Tenth Guru. However, the Sikh Panth has accepted the entire Dasam Granth as the work of Guru Gobind Singh.

The present work has been arranged under various headings : God, Holy Name, False Religion, Transitory World, Universal Brotherhood, the Khalsa, Yoga and Autobiographical. Suitable hymns have been presented to throw light on the above themes. The Tenth Guru exposed the hollowness and futility of ritual, Yogic penance and hypocrisy. On the other hand, he valued the Brotherhood of man, Meditation on the Holy Name, Sacrifice for the preservation of Truth and Justice, and living according to the ideal of the Khalsa. His values have stood the test of time and provide a basis for the progressive survival of mankind.

An introduction to the Dasam Granth has been added. The author acknowledges his debt to the translations of Dr. Gopal Singh, Bhai Jodha Singh and annotations of Bhai Randhir Singh.

INTRODUCTION TO THE DASAM GRANTH

The Dasam Granth is the second Holy Book of the Sikhs. There are three versions of the work, namely : Bhai Mani Singh's Bir, Patna Sahib Bir and Sangrur Bir. Giani Kartar Singh has mentioned nine lithographic and printed editions. The most acceptable edition is the Sri Guru Granth Sahib Ji Dasam Patshahi, published by Munshi Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore, in Sambat Guru Nanak 444 (1913 A.D). This edition has 1399 pages of 19 lines each. The popular printed edition available today has 1428 pages. The total number of verses is 17,155.

Its Contents

Jap Sahib : This contains 199 verses which praise the attributes of God. More than 900 names have been used for the Lord; some are positive, others are negative. For example, the first quotation contains both positive and negative aspects of God, while the second contains only negative ones:

(i) "I salute that God who is Unborn:

I salute that Lord who is most Beautiful," (21)

(ii) Formless, Peerless, Beginningless, Birthless,
Bodyless, Colourless, Desireless, Dauntless." (30)

Akal Ustat : This is one of the finest works of the Tenth Guru. The title "Akal Ustat" means "Praise of the Immortal Lord." Here, the Guru uses new names for God like Sarabloh (All-steel), Sarab-kal (All-death), Kharag-ketu (with a banner decorated by the imprint of the sword). This God is the embodiment of fearlessness and courage. The Guru rejects the idea of any chosen people, that is any group being favoured by the Lord – the Jews, the Muslims, the Christians. The Akal Ustat includes Ten Swayyas found in the Nitnem. The Guru rejected idol-worship and also the traditional marks of symbols of holiness. He emphasised repeatedly the brotherhood of man and the need for serving our fellow-men .

Bachitra Natak : The title means 'The wonderful drama', it is a 'Drama of Life'. It includes details of the Guru's life and wonderful performances of legendary deities and popular heroes. The Guru begins the work with an invocation to "The Sword"– one of his Symbols for God.

Chandi Charitra : This details of battles of Chandi with various demons. Apart from the standard version of Chandi in Bachitra Natak which is based on Bhagwat Puran, there are two other versions in Hindi, based on Markande Puran.

Chandi-di-var : Also called Var Sri Bhagauti Ji Ki is in Punjabi and contains 55 verses. It is regarded as the first Var of its kind in Punjabi.

Gian Prabodh : This contains stories from the Mahabharata and also some pithy sayings and aphorisms. It is a book of practical wisdom, explaining the essence of Raj-Dharam (political morality), Dan-Dharam (the principles of charity), Bhog- Dharam (the principles of family-life), and Moksh-Dharam (the code for salvation).

Chaubis Avtar : Though technically a part of Bachitra Natak, it is also treated as an independent composition. Here are given the 24 incarnations of the Hindu god Vishnu. There is also a supplement called Mehdi-Mir-Badh, which gives an account of the Saviours who came to uphold truth and justice.

Brahma Avtar : Like Chaubis Avtar, but dealing with the seven incarnations of Brahma followed by descriptions of eight kings. It contains 343 verses.

Rudra Avtar : Deals with the two incarnations of Indra, namely as Datta Avtar and Paras Nath Avtar.

Shabad Patshashi Dasvee : This is a collection of ten hymns (Shabads, also called Shabad Hazare). They are for singing in the classical raga indicated for each Shabad. They deal with the futility of asceticism, idolatry and attachment. One hymn in the Khaya tells us of the Guru's condition after escape from Chamkaur to the Machhiwara jungle. In this, Guru declares his faith in the essentiality of God, to care for the Children.

Sri Mukh Vak Swayyas : These are 32 quatrains on God and current religious practices. The Guru rejects the ritual and hypocrisy of all priestly classes.

Khalsa Mehma : These are verses in praise of the Khalsa brotherhood.

Pakhyan Charitra or Charito-pakhyan : These are 404 stories in verse, illustrating the noble and wicked sides of life. Some deal with bad women, some with their virtue and valour. The total number of verses is 7558.

Sri Shashtra Nam Mala : This is a list of armaments, and deeds of those who used them well. The names of the weapons are spelt in the form of riddles.

Zafar-Nama : It is actually the reply of Guru Gobind Singh to Aurangzeb's letter to the Guru to meet him at the Moghul Court. It is written in Persian verse and in two parts, the first being an invocation to God to seek His blessing, and the second, the actual reply to Aurangzeb. The Guru gives a fair criticism of the emperor, mentioning both his good and bad qualities. The Guru emphasised the moral law that all who are hypocritical and violent will eventually get their just punishment, for the wheel of providence grinds slowly and exceedingly small.

Hikayat : These are eleven stories in Persian verse, each with a moral lesson. Some of the stories are the same as in Pakhyan Charitra. These stories begin with the praise of God.

The Dasam Granth was primarily compiled to awaken heroic sentiments among the Sikhs so as to enable them to fight against political injustice and religious intolerance. The influence of Hindu theology, history, mythology, philosophy and literature on Guru Gobind Singh is quite evident. The book also serves as a reference work on all classical allusions found in the Adi Granth. It has therefore an important place in Sikh literature and theology.

The compositions of the Dasam Granth may be divided into two main categories :

- (i) Devotional Poetry : like Jaap, Akal Ustat, Benati Chaupai, Shabad Hazare, etc.
- (ii) Heroic Poetry : like Chaubis Avtar, Bachitra Natak, Chandi-di-Var, etc.

Devotional Poetry : Apart from the praises of God which include more than a hundred positive attributes of Him in the Jaap, the Guru dwells on the negative and destructive aspects of God. Weaponry or warfare is the way in which He punishes the wicked and the unjust. The Martial God is All-steel, the Holder of the Sword, the User of the Bow and the Arrow. The Guru emphasises too the efficacy of the Holy Name. He says :

"Repeat God's Name, establish God's Name in your heart :

Do obeisance to the Lord and repeat His Name."

As a saint-soldier, Guru Gobind Singh declared his mission in the following words :

"I assumed birth for the purpose of spreading the Faith, Protecting the saints and extirpating all tyrants."

"When all peaceful methods fail,
It is righteous to draw the sword. "

"Knowing me to be His slave, God has aided me.
He has taken me by His hand and saved me."

In Chandi-di-Var, the Guru has emphasised the role of the sword wielded by Rama, Krishna and Durga, for the defeat of evil forces.

In Krishan Avtar, Guru Gobind Singh has expressly mentioned the objective of his poetry thus : "I have rendered in the Tenth Chapter of the Bhagwat, with no other purpose than to arouse desire and zeal for waging a holy war, a righteous vindication of the Lord." The Guru wanted to acquaint the Sikhs with the Indian religious lore and to rouse their conscience against tyranny and injustice, as also to remove their sloth, frustration and cowardice.

Courage and Victory, are the Guru's watchwords. He says :

"Even if a low coward hears the ballad (of Chandi), he will be thrilled with the love of war and offer himself for fight in battle."

The Guru's praise of the sword is in fact his praise of God. Just as the sword subdues enemies, so does God defeat the wicked. In this sense, Sword is God, and God is Sword.

Music

The following Ragas and Raginis are indicated in the compositions noted below. The number of hymns is mentioned in small brackets.

1. Bilaval	[Rag]	Shabad	Hazare (1)
2. Devgandhari	[Ragini]	" "	(2)	and Paras Nath	(2)
3. Kalyan	[Ragini]	" "	(1)	"	(1)
4. Khayal	[Style]	" "	(1)
5. Ramkali	[Ragini]	" "	(3)	"	(2)
6. Sorath	[Rag]	" "	(1)	"	(12)
7. Tilang-Kafi	[Mixed]	" "	(1)	"

8. Adana	[Rag]	"	(1)
9. Basant	[Rag]	"	(1)
10. Bhairav	[Rag]	"	(1)
11. Dhanasri	[Ragini]	"	(1)
12. Gauri	[Ragini]	"	(2)
13. Kafi	[Ragini]	"	(5)
14. Kedara	[Rag]	"	(1)
15. Maru	[Rag]	"	(3)
16. Paraj	[Ragini]	"	(3)
17. Sarang	[Rag]	"	(6)
18. Suhi	[Ragini]	"	(3)
19. Tilang	[Rag]	"	(1)

The musical notes are at times martial, at times peaceful and soothing. We have both secular and sacred music in this Granth. The poet and the singer in the Tenth Guru join hands together to offer beautiful pictures and patterns in melody.

Diction

Guru Gobind Singh used Punjabi, Brij, Arabic and Persian words which suited the theme and the mood. Sanskrit words dominate the devotional compositions. Sometimes he used words from dialects like Dingal (Rajasthan) and Avadhi (Patna). As a conscientious artist in words, his semantic diversity is amazing. Onomatopoeic words and rhythmic syllables are found in plenty, as for instance, the cawing of the crows – Kah Kah su Kookat Kan Kiyan.

The importance of the Dasam Granth is three-fold. Firstly, it is a source of material on the life and work of Guru Gobind Singh, particularly the two autobiographical compositions—Bachitra Natak and Zafar Nama. Historians have drawn largely on these poems for their authenticity. Secondly, it is a treasury of lyrical poetry, portrait-painting, heroic and narrative poetry. Thirdly, it is a collection of literature in Brij Bhasha, Punjabi and Persian, belonging to the later medieval India. It also offers a glimpse into ancient Indian history, folklore and culture. It is a panorama of thousands of years of Indian tradition and civilisation—the procession of princes and paupers, the learned and the ignorant passing on the stage in strange costumes, exhibiting the frailties and inhibitions of mortal man.

Guru Gobind Singh was a prolific poet. At Paonta Sahib, where most of his literary activity took place, he employed 52 poets who worked for him in creative writing and translation. Being occupied by his wars with the hill-chiefs, the Moghul emperor and local governors, he had no time to compile a book of his own compositions. Later, when some one suggested that he include some of his own hymns in the Adi Granth, he rejected the suggestion, saying that his compositions were not his serious work, that he was merely experimenting with poetry and music, this humility being responsible for the non-incorporation of his hymns in that Scripture.

Mata Sundri, the widow of Guru Gobind Singh once asked Bhai Mani Singh to compile a volume of the Guru's poetry. She handed over to him all the copies she possessed of his poems. Bhai Mani Singh also collected copies from others. Bhai Mani Singh, who was a relative and had been a close companion of the Guru, spent many years sifting the materials and finally compiled a volume known as The Granth of the Tenth Master or the "Dasam Granth", in 1721.

The Dasam Granth embodies the philosophy and mission of Guru Gobind Singh. The Guru's philosophy has both positive and negative aspects. On the positive side, it declares the supremacy of God and His moral law. He uses, the power of the sword against the negative forces, of tyranny, violence and bigotry. His heroic poetry is meant to inspire, not to entertain. It is a poetry of higher ethics, aesthetically fulfilling and spiritually gratifying. Above all, it gives a clear picture of the real world, without any gloss or blackening. In the opening scene of Hussaini Jung (1695), his words are like the blows of a hammer:

"Goaded by the tumultuous booming of drums,
The doughty warriors gave a thunderous roar.
They jumped and leapt with their zeal afire and all intent.
As they plied their weapons with great excitement, inflicting grievous wounds." (Bachitra Natak)

On the other hand, the Guru's caustic criticism of meaningless ritual, greed and hypocrisy of so-called holy men; is vivid and compelling.

There is both imagery and resonance – an aesthetic vibration, which goes far beyond the literal meaning of words.

The heroic strain—Bir rasa - end in the tranquility of the Shant rasa (feeling of peace). The Guru's insight into the psychology of lovers in the portrayal of Radha's mind bypasses the traditional erotic detail. "Man's nature has an exterior world and also an interior world that lies within him. With his outer or conscious personality, man deals with the empirical world, with his inner personality, he struggles with the problems of his own individuality; few men know more than a few fragments of their inner world which is the unconscious, or of lying in the darkness of unknowing. The unconscious part of human nature is the source and origin of the conscious, of all created things and manifestations, even of creation."

Guru Gobind Singh was a fine singer and musicologist. He used new ragas like Adana, Kafi and Paraj, which were not included in the Adi Granth. His use of Khayal was also an addition to Sikh Sacred Music. The Guru patronised musicians. Buddhu and Saddu who were rababis sang the Asa-di-var in his court. He used poetry for both secular and spiritual purposes. His heroic poetry was intended to end the traditional concept of non-violence – Ahimsa – then forced on people by both king and priest. Now the voice of conscience should inspire people to fight for freedom and justice. His devotional poetry was intended to inspire the people for spiritual attainment. One writer has remarked:

"He gave us musical form that was martial and hymnal, sacred and secular, simple and complex. In him, we find a saint singing spiritual songs, a soldier listening to martial music, a householder singing of the virtue, of leading good life and of a painter creating wonderful sound pictures in music."

Finally, as the bulk of Guru Gobind Singh's poetry in the Dasam Granth is in Brij-bhasha, he is considered as a great poet not only in Hindi literature but also for his achievements in Punjabi and Persian poetry.

I bow to the Honourable Lord; I bow to the All-Destroyer.
You are beyond treasure and name, You pervade in all places.
You are desireless in Your glory and present in everything.
You are the Destroyer of sins; Your righteous
Law¹ controls everything. (197)
You are truth and Bliss and the Scourge of enemies,
The Bestower of blessings who resides in every being.
Your glory is wonderful; You are the Destroyer of tyrants.
You can annihilate and create; You are benevolent and compassionate.(198)
You pervade in all directions, You enjoy the things of the universe.
You are self-illuminated, beautiful and present in all beings.
You are the Destroyer of the pain of birth and death and you are the personification of compassion.
You are ever present within us. Your Essence is indestructible (199) (10)

What did it matter if Vishnu¹ came into the world and killed the demons?

By showing his wiles to people, he exhorted them to call him God.

How can he (Vishnu) be called God, the Destroyer, the Creator, the Omnipotent and the Eternal !

He (Vishnu) could not save himself from the blow of the sword of Death.

O stupid person, listen, how can he, who himself is sunk in the ocean of the world, save you ?

You can escape from the noose of Death, only if you seek the refuge of the One who existed before the world came into being. (710)

For God, praise or censure is equal ; He has no friend or foe.

What need had he to be the driver of (Arjan's) chariot ?¹

God, the Bestower of salvation, has neither father nor mother, nor caste nor son nor grandson.

What for should he have to come into the world to be known as the son of Devki ?²

He has created gods and demons and pervades in all directions.

What glory do we offer Him when we call Him by the name of Murar ?³
(711)

1. Lord Krishna was the Charioteer of Arjan's chariot during the War of Mahabharata. As such he cannot be called God.
 2. Lord Krishna, the son of Devki, is regarded as an incarnation of God by the Hindus. God is not subject to death and Lord Krishna cannot be called God.
 3. Lord Krishna is called Murar/Murari because he killed the demon known as Mur.

(711)

18. Raag Bilaaval (Shabad Hazare)

Why should God appear in human form ?

Siddhas have failed to find Him anywhere, inspite of their meditations.
Pause.

Narad,¹ Bias², Prasur³, Dhru⁴ have sincerely meditated on God.

The Vedas and the Puranas failed and hence gave up all their efforts for realising Him.

Demons, gods, fiends and goblins say that God is infinite.

God has been represented as the smallest of the small and the biggest of the big.

God created earth, heaven and all the nether regions and though He is one, He is known as "The Many".

So the person who seeks refuge in God's protection will escape the noose of Death. (711)

19. Raag Devagandhari (Shabad Hazare)

Except one God, do not accept anyone else.

God is the Destroyer, the Designer, the Omnipotent and the Eternal, who is known as the Creator. Pause.

Of what value is the worship of stones¹ in different ways, done with great zeal ?

Life is spent in worshipping stones without any spiritual achievement.

Rice, incense and oil-torches are offered to stones, but they are lifeless.

O dullard ! What spiritual potential is in stones? What can they give you?

If these stones had any life, they could have given you something in your thoughts, words and deeds.

There is no spiritual fulfilment, except through seeking the refuge of the One Lord. (711)

20. Savaiye (Tatees Savaiye, 13)

If you maintain that the all-Pervading God is unborn and invincible, how could He as Rama be born of the womb of Kaushalya ?¹

And how is it that Krishna whom you call the Immortal God was helpless at the hands of Death ?²

And how is it that the All Holy and Revengeless Lord as Krishna drove the chariot of Arjana to battle ?³

Therefore, regard Him only as God whose mysteries none has been or will be able to unravel.13 (713)

1. Rama was born and therefore he cannot be identified with God who is unborn and not subject to death.
 2. Krishna died and therefore he cannot be identified with God who is not subject to death.
 3. Krishna helped Arjan to fight against his enemies. God is free from enmity and therefore Krishna cannot be called God.

21. Savaiye (Tatees Savaiye, 14)

How do you say that Krishna was God, the All Merciful ?

How is it that he was shot with an arrow of the hunter ?¹

When he is said to be the saviour of other families, how come that he could not save his own family from destruction ?

God is called Primal and Unborn, then how can His coming into the womb of Devaki be explained.

God is without father and mother, but Krishna had a father named Vasudev.² (714)

1. According to tradition, a hunter mistook the lotus foot of Krishna for the eye of a deer in the jungle and shot him.
 2. God is not subject to birth; hence Krishna who was born to Devaki, and whose father was Vasudev cannot be called God.

22. Vaar Durga Pauri

First, God created the double-edged Dagger¹ and, then, the universe.

He it is who created Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva,
and evolved the play of nature.

He created the fourteen regions²
and displayed the variety of nature

And created also the earth, mountains and oceans, and vaulted the sky over us without a support.

And created also He the gods and demons,
and ploughed into their beings the germs of strife.

He it was who created Durga, the goddess of power,
and caused the demons to be destroyed.

It is from You, O God, that Rama received his prowess to kill with his arrows the ten-headed Ravana,

'Tis you who bestowed Krishna with the power to catch Kansa by the hair and destroy him.

Gods and ascetics and seers there were many upon many who macerated themselves for Your sake, age after age.

But, Your limits, O God, no one has found ! 2

1. The "Source of Power". "Bhagauti" both in the creative and destructive aspects.

2. According to traditional belief there are seven upper regions and seven lower regions.

God's existence is eternal, His laws endure; He is from the beginning, but Himself without a beginning. He is unfathomable and unconquerable.

His bounty, mercy, self-control, self-restraint, laws, vow of celibacy, and excellent vow of goodness never fail.

He is primeval, of no colour, without beginning, without end, self-begotten, boundless, without jealousy and without fear.

His form is formlessness. He hath no lines, is unaffected by old age, is merciful to the lowly and is all-kindness. 2

HOLY NAME

24. Ramkali (Shabad Hazare)

O man, dedicate yourself to God's feet (commands).

Why are you asleep, intoxicated by worldly attachment ?

Be awake and alert some times. 1. Pause.

O animal- like man, why do you have to preach to others, when you yourself do not follow the teaching ?

Why are you amassing sins ?¹ For some time (at least) forsake their poisonous relish .1.

Regard rituals as myths and superstitions and devote yourself to truly holy deeds.

Amass the (wealth of the) True Name; shun and flee from deadly sins.2.

In this manner, misery and sins will not affect you and you will be saved from the noose of Death.

If you desire eternal happiness for all, devote yourself to God's Name-Nectar. 3. (710)

1. In the pursuit of wealth and ambition, man commits lots of sins and crimes.

25. Raag Devagandhari (Shabad Hazare)

Without God's Name none can be liberated.

How can you escape from God's sway for He rules over the fourteen worlds.¹ Pause.

Ram and Rahim whose names you recite again and again—can not save you.

Brahma, Vishnu, Shiva², the Sun and the Moon are under the control of Death.

Vedas, Puranas, the Quran and all the religious denominations call God, Infinite.

Indra,³ Shesh Nag,⁴ the Leader of Munis meditated for long, but could not attain to Him.

How can God who has no colour or form be called blue-eyed⁵ (Shyam) ?

If you devotedly attach yourself to the feet of God, You will be saved from the noose of Death.⁶ (711)

1. According to tradition, there are fourteen worlds : seven in the upper region and seven in the nether region.
 2. Shiva : The third of the Hindu Trinity, known as the Destroyer.
 3. Indra : The King of Heaven, also god of rain.
 4. Shesh Nag : The mythological multi-hooded cobra said to be the king of the nether world.
 5. This has a reference to Lord Krishna who is known as Shyam.
 6. Salvation implies the end of the cycle of death and birth and union with the Lord.

26. Tatees Savaiye

Why do you worship stones ? How can God be contained in a stone ?

Worship Him, the only Lord, by worshipping whom all pains and sins vanish,

By remembering whose Name, all physical and mental ills shall vanish.

Meditation on God alone is acceptable, and other vain deeds bring no fruit. 20. (714)

(713)

27. Savaiye (Tatees Savaiye 10)

The Vedas and the Katebas have failed to explain God's mystery. Siddhas have failed to attain to Him through contemplation.

The Simiritis, the Shastras, the Vedas and the Puranas have conjectured the aspects of God in different ways.

He, the Primal Being, who is without origin and beyond description, saved Dhru¹, Ajamal² and Prahlad.³

The Holy Name which saved Ganika⁴ the prostitute is the basis of all my support. 10 (713)

1. Dhru : An ancient Indian sage who was the son of King Uttanpada.
 2. Ajamal : A sinful man who, according to tradition has a son called Narayan. On his death-bed he called his son Narayan (which means God) and he was liberated.
 3. Prahlad : An Indian saint who was harassed by his father Harnakash. Vishnu appeared from a pillar in the form of Man-lion and tore Harnakash to pieces.
 4. Ganika : A prostitute whom a saint gave a parrot which could utter "Ram". She remembered the parrot's word "Ram" which stands for God, at the time of her death and was thus saved.

I have also come across groups of warrior-demons, nectar-loving gods, and holy men of different sects.

I have examined the religions of various countries, but none of them preaches the true devotion to God, the Lord of Life.

All these religions are good for nothing, if they cannot win the love and grace of God. 1.21 (13)

1. Saravags are sect of Jains who deliberately remain dirty.
 2. Suddhs are a religious sect who keep very clean.
 3. Siddhas are a sect of Yogis who possess occult powers.
 4. Yogis are ascetics who practise austerities, physical and meditational exercises.
 5. Jatis are a religious sect who remain celibate and keep away from women.

If he were to study the Vedas, the Puranas, the Quran and other religious scriptures of all countries and ages,

If he were to live only on air¹ and were to practise continence and perform thousands of ceremonies,

All these practices are profitless, without meditation on and love of the Creator. (14)

1. Living on air implies fasting. Fasting as such is not approved by the Sikh Gurus. It confers no spiritual benefit.

Of what use is sitting with closed eyes like a crane,¹ pretending to meditate ?

Those who go to pilgrimage and take baths in the seven seas² lose everything in this world and the next.

They misuse their time in doing evil things and thus waste away their lives.

I speak the Truth and let all listen to it : Those who love God alone will merge in Him. (14)

1. A crane generally keeps his eyes half-closed for catching fish. Similarly hypocritical preachers pretend to meditate with eyes half-closed and as soon as they find a rich disciple, they prey upon him.
 2. The seven seas refer to numerous holy tanks and rivers.
(Hyperbole is a figure of speech used generally in poetry.)

Those who wearing penitential garbs and keeping long hair have wandered in different countries and not found God,

Those who practise millions of postures according to Ashtang Yoga¹ and make offerings of limbs and blacken their faces,

Without remembering the Name of the Compassionate and Immortal God, all of them will have to proceed to the place of the god of Death.
(35)

1. Patanjali's system of Yoga is called Ashtang (eightfold) Yoga. It is based on eight principles as under:

- (i) Yama : Practice of non-violence, truthfulness, non-covetousness, chastity and not receiving anything from another.
- (ii) Niyama : Austerity, contentment, purity and worship of God.
- (iii) Asana : Postures and physical exercise to keep the body healthy.
- (iv) Pranayama : Control and purification of breathing.
- (v) Pratyahara : Control of sense-organs by one's will.
- (vi) Dharna : Holding the mind on some point or idea.
- (vii) Dhyana : Meditation on the deity or God.
- (viii) Samadhi : Condition of trance where one gets in tune with God.

All were entangled in the net-work of death. No Rama or any prophet could escape it.

The gods, demons, serpents and mountains were created and destroyed in the past and will be created and destroyed in the future too.

Those who declared themselves as God's incarnations¹ died lamenting in the end on this earth.

O fickle mind ! Why do you then not bow at the feet of the Destroyer (God) alone ? (715)

1. Guru Gobind Singh did not believe in incarnations of God, because God is not subject to birth and death.

For several days, you have read the Vedas and Katebas¹ but still have not understood their inner meaning.

You worshipped one god after another and moved from place to place, but never thought of cherishing the one Lord in your heart.

You have bowed to stones and shrines, but gained nothing.

O foolish mind ! Why have you forsaken the mighty Lord and entangled yourself in vain pursuits ? (715)

1. Katebas : The reference is to the Semitic scriptures, four in number, namely Jabur of prophet Daud (David). Tohra of prophet (Moses), Bible of prophet Christ, and Quran of prophet Mohammed.

37. Savaiye (Tatees Savaiye)

If one goes to the Yogis, they will ask him to surrender all his wealth to them.

If one runs to the Sanyasis, they will tell him to renounce all his property in the name of Datta.¹

If one goes to the Massands² they will at once demand all his goods.

They all say : "Give us all", but there is none to give me the knowledge of God. (715)

1. Dattatriya : Datta for short -was the founder of a sect Sanyasis (ascetics).
 2. Massands : This was an organisation of Sikh missionaries started by Guru Ramdas, but it was abolished by Guru Gobind Singh because the Massands had become corrupt and wicked.

When they see a rich disciple, they serve him with delicious food.

When a poor disciple goes to them, they pay no heed to his request and often hide their faces from him.

Such beasts² are looting the people. They never sing the praises of God. (716)

1. This was one of the devices employed by hypocritical preachers and sadhus to attract disciples.

2. Such fake religious teachers are called 'beasts' by Guru Gobind Singh.

Were emperors to possess tall and noble elephants, painted in beautiful colours and adorned with golden trappings.

Were emperors to possess millions of horses, galloping at speed faster than that of the wind and racing like the deer,

It matters not if such powerful emperors existed, because at the end they left the world barefooted. (13)

If mighty emperors were to go round and conquer all the countries, after beating different kinds of drums of war,

If a number of beautiful elephants were to trumpet boldly and if thousands of horses of high breed were to neigh (in their palaces).

Such emperors living in the past or in the present or likely to exist in the future cannot perhaps be correctly counted,

Yet without worshipping the Name of God, they have to leave (in utter helplessness) for their final home (of death) (31)

If there were veteran, strong and invincible soldiers, equipped with coats of mail and capable of subduing the enemy.

If filled with conceit, they thought they would never quit the battle-field, even though hard mountains—if furnished with wings—could leave their places,¹

If they were powerful to break into bits the revolting armies and twist their heads and even crush the pride of furious elephants.

Without the merciful glance of God, such brave soldiers would leave the world empty-handed. (14)

Even so, God alone is the only Giver and Ruler of all. They stand like beggars at His court. (14)

a warrior.

Men who take numerous ritual-baths and give in charity elephants and other animals and marry at special savambars,¹

All these and even Brahma, Shiva, Vishnu and Indra shall at the end fall into the noose of Death.

But those who fall at the feet of God and seek His protection shall not go through the cycle of transmigration.² (14)

2. Transmigration is the cycle of birth, death and rebirth.

UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD

47. (Akaal Ustat 15. 85)

Some one shaves his head and becomes a Sanyasi, another becomes a Yogi, another Brahmchari and yet another an ascetic.

Some are Hindus, others are Muslims, some are Rafjis, Imams and Safis, but all belong to the one race of humanity.

Karta¹ and Karim² are one and the same (God).

He is called a Razak,³ and Rahim³; there is no difference; to think otherwise would be a mistake.

Worship only one God, who is the Supreme Guru of all, and regard His Form as one and His Light as pervading in all. (19)

1. The Hindus call God Karta which means the Creator.

2. The Muslims call God, Karim which means the Good.

3. The other names used by Muslims for God are Razak—the Sustainer and Rahim—the Compassionate.

God is in the temple as well as in the mosque.

He is in the Hindu worship as well as in the Muslim prayer. All men are basically the same, though they appear different through our mistake.¹

Deities, demons, heavenly musicians, Hindus and Muslims are all one, though they use different dresses according to the influence of regional customs.

All men have the same eyes, ears body and figure made out of the mixture of earth, air, fire and water.

The Abhekh (of the Hindus) and the Allah (of the Muslims) are one and the same, the Quran and the Puranas are His (praise). They are all of the same pattern; the one Lord had made them. (19)

1. Religions should emphasise the Fatherhood of God and Brotherhood of man instead of differences in matters of worship, doctrine, ritual and dress.

As out of a single fire, millions of sparks emerge and though separate,
they come back again as they fall in the fire,

As out of a heap of dust, particles fly up filling the air, but soon they come down and fall in the same heap.

As out of a single river, numerous ripples rise up, but soon, being water, fall into the river again.

So from God spring non-living things and living beings, and as they come from Him shall all merge in Him again. (19)

He decorates himself with perfect love and faith and believes not in fasts, tombs, crematoriums and hermit-cells even by mistake.

He knows none except the One Lord in the performance of acts of pilgrimage, charities, compassion, austerity and self-control.

Such a man in whose heart shines the full Divinely radiant Light is a true and pure Khalsa. (712)

51. Savaiya (Krishnavtar)

Blessed is the life of that person in the world¹ who recites the Holy Name with his mouth and contemplates war against evil in his mind.

He regards the body as a temporary vesture and uses the boat of the Lord's Name to cross the rough world-ocean.

He makes a closet of patience in the body and illumines the mind with the lamp of divine knowledge,

He takes up the broom of (spiritual) wisdom in his hands and sweeps away all cowardice and falsehood. (570)

1. Here is the concept of the Ideal Man of Guru Gobind Singh which was concretised by the creation of the Khalsa.

52. ਸਵੈਯਾ ॥

ਜੁਧ ਜਿਤੇ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ ਸੁ ਦਾਨ ਕਰੇ॥
ਅਘ ਓਘ ਟਰੇ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੀ ਕ੍ਰਿਪਾ ਫੁਨਿ ਧਾਮ ਭਰੇ॥
ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ ਪ੍ਰਸਾਦਿ ਸੁ ਬਿਦਯਾ ਲਈ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੀ ਕ੍ਰਿਪਾ ਸਭ ਸੱਤ੍ਰ ਮਰੇ॥
ਇਨਹੀ ਕੀ ਕ੍ਰਿਪਾ ਕੇ ਸਜੇ ਹਮ ਹੈਂ ਨਹੀਂ ਮੇ ਸੋ ਗਰੀਬ ਕਰੋਰ ਪਰੇ॥੨॥

52. Savaiya

Judh jitay inahi kay prasaad, inahi kay prasaad su daan karay.
Agh ogh taray inahi kay prasaad, inahi ki kirpaa fun dhaam bharay.
Inahi kay prasaad su bidyaa laee, inahi ki kirpaa sabh satra maray.
Inahi ki kirpa kay sajay hum hain, nahi mo so gareeb krur paray. 2. (716)

52. Savaiya

It is through the actions of the Khalsa¹ that I have won all my victories and have been able to give charities to others.

It is through their help that I have overcome all sorrows and ailments and have been able to fill my house with treasures.

It is through their grace that I have got education, and through their assistance I have conquered all my enemies.

It is through their aid that I have attained this position, otherwise there are millions of unknown mortals like me. (716)

1. Guru Gobind Singh pays his tribute to the contribution and the achievement of the Khalsa.

53. ਸਵੱਯਾ ॥

ਸੇਵ ਕਰੀ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੀ ਭਾਵਤ ਔਰ ਕੀ ਸੇਵ ਸੁਹਾਤ ਨ ਜੀ ਕੇ॥
ਦਾਨ ਦੀਯੋ ਇਨ ਹੀ ਕੇ ਭਲੇ ਅਰ ਆਨ ਕੇ ਦਾਨ ਨ ਲਾਗਤ ਨੀਕੇ॥
ਆਗੈ ਫਲੈ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ ਦਯੋ ਜਗ ਮੈਂ ਜਸ ਔਰ ਦਯੋ ਸਭ ਫੀਕੇ॥
ਮੋ ਗ੍ਰਹਿ ਮੈ ਮਨ ਤੇ ਤਨ ਤੇ ਸਿਰ ਲੈ ਧਨ ਹੈ ਸਭ ਹੀ ਇਨਹੀ ਕੇ॥੩॥

53. Savaiya

Sev karee inahi ki bhaavat, aur ki sev suhaat na jee ko.
Daan deeyo inahi ko bhalo, ar aan ko daan na laagat neeko.
Aagay falay inahi ko dayo, jag mai jas aur dayo sabh feeko.
Mo grah mai man tay tan tay, sirr lo dhan hai sabh hi inahi ko. (717)

53. Savaiva

It is a great pleasure to serve them (the Khalsa)¹ for I do not regard the service of others as delightful to me.

It is beneficial to give them gifts, for granting favours to others, does not appear good to me.

Whatever is bestowed on them will bear fruit in the future and bring honour in this world; to give anything to others seems to be of little avail.

I dedicate (and bequeath) whatever is in my home, my body, my mind, my head, my wealth and all my belongings to them. (717)

1. Guru Gobind Singh's great love and respect for the Khalsa is expressed in this composition.

YOGA

54. Shabad Hazare Ramkali 3.1

O man ! Practise renunciation in this manner,

Regard your house as a forest (retreat) and live as a hermit in your heart. Pause.

Make countenance your matted hair, communion with God your bath, and performance of religious duties the growing of long nails.

Make divine knowledge your religious preceptor, enlighten your own soul and smear your body with the ashes of God's Name.

Eat little and sleep little; love the practice of compassion and forbearance.

Be calm and contented and thus you will gain freedom from the Three States.¹

Keep your mind away from lust, anger, pride, greed, obstinacy and worldly love.

Thus you will see the essence of your own soul and also realise the Supreme Lord. (709)

1. The Three States are Rajas, Tamas, Satva. Rajas implies energy, desire and attachment and causes people to do work. Tamas implies ignorance and sloth and makes people lazy. Satva implies goodness and purity and promotes the pursuit of knowledge, creative arts and healthy living.

55. ਰਾਮਕਲੀ ਪਾਤਿਸ਼ਾਹੀ ੧੦ ॥

55. Shabad Hazare, Ramkali 3.2

O man ! Practise yoga in this way.

Make truth your horn¹, integrity your necklace and apply the ashes of meditation to your body. Pause.

Make the control of the mind your harp and the support of the Holy Name your alms.

Play the charming strings of God's Name so as to produce the delightful divine melody.

Vibrations of sweet tunes will create the waves of blissful music of divine knowledge.

Thus the gods, demons and ascetics will be wonder-struck and the riders of celestial chariots will become divinely intoxicated.

O Yogi, instruct your soul, wear the uniform of self-discipline and remember God's Name silently and continuously in your own heart.

Thus your body will always shine like gold and the demons of death will not frighten you. (710)

1. These are references to the Yogi's paraphernalia like horn, necklace, ashes, harp, etc.

56. ਸਵੈਯੋ ॥

Laaj gae kichh kaaj sariyo nah, prem binaa Prabh paan na aaye. 18.

(715)

56. Savaiye (Tatees Saviye)

The Yogi, by show of meditation, the growth of matted locks¹ on the head, long nails on the fingers has deceived all people.

He, by applying ashes on his face and roaming hither and thither, has duped the gods (good people) and demons (bad people).

He, overwhelmed by greed has gone from house to house (to collect alms) and forgotten the code of discipline (contentment) of true Yoga.

He has lost all his self-respect and missed the goal; without real devotion God can never be realised. (715)

1. These are references to the Yogi's paraphernalia, like matted locks, long nails, ashes etc.

57. BACHITAR NATAK

Doharaa

In the house of the Bedis was born Nanak, the king of kings, who brought joy to his followers and became their refuge. Both here and in the hereafter.4

Chaupai

He established Religion in this dark age,
And showed the Path to all men of faith.
He who accepted his Way,
Was afflicted not by sin.5

He who followed in his footsteps,
Him affected neither sin nor sorrow.
He was delivered of pain and hunger,
And was trapped not thereafter by death 6.

Then, Nanak adopted Angad's form,
And spread this Religion far and wide.
Then, he was known as Amar Das,
As one light kindles another. 7

And when came time for the fulfilment of his blessing,
He was called Ram Das, the Guru.
It was in fulfilment of an old command (of God).
And, then, Amar Das returned to the heavenly abode. 8.

ਸ੍ਰੀ ਨਾਨਕ ਅੰਗਦਿ ਕਰਿ ਮਾਨਾ। ਅਮਰ ਦਾਸ ਅੰਗਦ ਪਹਿਚਾਨਾ।

Sri Nanak Angad kar maanaa, Amardaas Angad pahchaanaa
 Amardaas Ramdaas kahaiyo, sadhan lakha moor nahee paayo. 9
 Bhin bhin sabh hoo kar jaanaa, ek roop kinahoo pahchaanaa.
 Jin jaanaa tinahee sidh paaee, bin samjhay sidh haath na aae. 10
 Ramdaas Har so mil gaey, gurtaa det Arjunah bhaey.
 Jab Arjun Prabh lok sidhaaey, Har Gobind tinhi thhahiraaey. 11
 Hargobind Prrabh lokh sidhaarey, Hari rai tihathhaa baithharay.
 Hari Krishan tin kay sut vaey, Tin te Teg Bahaaadur bha-ay. 12

It was Nanak, the venerable, who was known as Angad.
Thereafter, it was Amar Das who assumed the form of Ram Das.
All this is known to men of faith; but the fools know not the mystery. 9

They distinguish and separate one from the other.
And rare is the one who knows that they, indeed, were one.
They who realised this in their hearts, attained Realisation (of God).
But they who understood it not, were at fault. 10

Ram Das, then, merged in God,
Appointing Arjun as the Guru.
And when Arjun returned to the heavens,
He established Har Gobind in his place. 11

When Har Gobind proceeded to the Abode of God,
It was Har Rai who took his place.
After him came Huri Krishan, his son,
And then it was Teg Bahadur who succeeded him. 12.

Guru Teg Bahadur was the protector of the tilak (forehead mark) and Janeu (the sacred thread) of the Hindus.

He performed a unique act in the age of Kali; He made the supreme sacrifice for the sake of the men of other faith.

He gave his head without a groan ; 13

He did this deed to defend Dharma.

He gave up his head but not his resolve.

Making antics and performing tricks (miracles),

Is considered disgraceful by holy men. 14

Doharaa

Casting off his bodily vesture on the head of Suzerain of Delhi;

He departed to the Realm of God.

None who came into the world performed such glorious deeds as he. 15

Teg Bahadur produced dismay in the world

This world cried, "Alas, Alas !

The Heaven rings with greetings of victory. 16

Now I relate my own story,
How God sent me into the world, while I was absorbed in meditation,
On the site of Hemkunt mountain,
Where the seven peaks shine in glory. 1
That spot is known as Sapt Sring.
Where Pandav kings practised yoga,
There I put in much spiritual effort.
I prayed to God—the Lord of Death. 2.
Thus I continued my meditations,
And became merged in the Divine Being.
My father and mother also worshipped the Indescribable One,
And carried out in various ways several spiritual practices. 3.
Because they served God with great devotion
He—the Supreme Guru—was much pleased.
When God gave me His Command,
I was born in this age of Kalyuga.¹ 4.
My mind was not happy in coming to the world,
Because it was attached to the feet of the Lord.
Somehow, God explained to me His purpose,
And sent me to this world, with His directive. 5. (54)

1. It means the dark age—the period of sin and corruption.

I have come for spreading Divine religion and for protection of saints,

And for annihilating (uprooting) all the tyrants. 43. (57)

63. BACHITAR NATAK

Rasaaval Chhand (31-35)

When I felt the touch of the arrow, my wrath was kindled.

I took up the bow in my hand and showered my arrows upon the enemy.

The enemy advanced towards me, with a shower of arrows. Then I aimed an arrow and struck one of them dead. Hari Chand too fell at my hands and another prince called Karor and many chiefs fell dead, and others fled the field in panic,

I won a decisive battle. O God, it was through your favour that I won. We sang the songs of victory. All my heroes were pleased and I rewarded them with much wealth.

Chaupai. (1-3)

God saves all His Saints in all ages. And; He gives pain to and destroys all their detractors. The devotees are a witness to His miracles who keeps them safe from all harm.

The Saints are ever protected from all harm : they who stand in their way are swept off like thorns. God protected me, too, taking me to be His Slave and gave me His Hand and became my refuge. O God, all the play that I have witnessed so far I have rendered upto you. All your Mercies and Miracles your servant has uttered before you. 3.

65. Khayal (Shabad Hazare)

Please tell the dear friend—the Lord—the plight of his disciples.¹

Without you, the use of rich blankets is like a disease for us and the comfort of the house is like living with snakes.

Our water-pitchers are like stakes of torture and our cups have edges like daggers. Your neglect is like what animals suffer when they face butchers.

Our Beloved Lord's straw-bed is more pleasing to us than living in costly furnace-like urban houses. 1.6. (711)

1. This hymn is said to be composed by Guru Gobind Singh in the Machhiwara jungle in 1704.

66. Zafar Namah*, 77-80

You (Emperor Aurangzeb) use your wisdom and act quickly;

Do reply to this letter as early as possible. 77.

What did it matter if you killed my four sons?¹

After all the hooded Cobra (like me)² is still living to punish you. 78.

What manliness is it to extinguish some burning coal,

When the raging fire is spreading in all directions ? 79.

How beautifully the Persian poet (Firdausi) has summed it up :

'The evil-minded act quickly, thus hastening their doom.' 80. (1392)

* This means " Letter of Victory", written by Guru Gobind Singh and addressed to Aurangzeb.

1. Guru Gobind Singh's reference is to his four sons who died at the hands of Aurangzeb's army and agents, Ajit Singh and Jujhar Singh died fighting against the Mughal army in the battle of Chamkaur, while Zorawar Singh and Fateh Singh were bricked alive by Wazir Khan, Governor of Sirhind in 1704.
2. This is a reference of the remarks of one of the courtiers of Wazir Khan who advised the killing of the two infant-children of Guru Gobind Singh, comparing them to the off-spring of a cobra.

SECTION IX
SUPPLICATION

67. Chandi Charitra Savaiya, 231

Grant me this boon¹, O Lord², that I may never be deterred from doing good deeds.

I should have no fear of the enemy,

When I go to battle and turn victory to my side. Let one directive guide my mind exclusively,

That I may ever be zealously singing Thy praises ;

And when the time comes, I should die, fighting heroically on the field of battle³. (99)

1. This hymn was the favourite prayer of Guru Gobind Singh.
 2. The Guru uses the word Shiva for God. The Guru prays to the Almighty and not the Hindu deity bearing this name.
 3. Heroic death on the field of battle is the goal of Guru Gobind Singh and the Khalsa.

68. Savaiye Patshahi Dasvee Chandi Charitra

Hear, O Merciful Lord ! the Light of all Lights.

This be my only supplication :

Let my mission be fulfilled ;

Let my life be a sacrifice unto

Righteousness is an action-packed battle-field of life culminating into a complete merger with Truth.

O the Helper of the Saints and All Pervading, grace me with your Blessing.

O God ! Protect me with Your helping hand,
And fulfil all the desires of my mind.
May my mind ever seek the shelter of your feet;

O Lord ! cherish me as Your own. 1.
O God, knock off all my enemies,
And preserve me with Your own hand.
May all my family feel happy (with your blessing),
Along with all my devotee-Sikhs and my followers. 2.

70. Var Bhagauti Chandi-Di-Var

First call on God, the All-powerful,¹ and then call on Nanak, the Guru.
And then on Angad, and Amardas, and Ramdas -
May they ever protect us and be our refuge !
And, then, call on Guru Arjan, and on Har Gobind, and Sri Hari Rai,
And, then, on Sri Har Krishan.
seeing whom all our woes come to an end.
And, then, call on Tegh Bahadur, the Guru,
Who brings the nine treasures¹ hastening to our home.
O God, be you ever with us wherever we be !

1. Nine Treasures refers to the traditional nine kinds of precious stones.
Another interpretation is that the first nine gurus are the nine treasures.
